

Revision Sought Of Teachers Retirement System

In a recent bulletin to all its members, the Executive Committee of the Alaska Education Assn. announced that the number one item on its legislative program is a complete revision of the teachers' retirement system on an actuarially sound basis. The chief actuary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare is now making a study of the system. Revision of the system has the support of the Superintendents' Advisory Council which met recently in Juneau.

The association will ask the legislature to increase the annual salary increments for all professional personnel and give further financial recognition for advanced training. A study of financial costs to the territory based on various combinations of proposals is now being made. Both the Superintendent's Advisory Commission and the Association of Alaska School Boards have recorded themselves in favor of increases in pay for advanced training.

The Alaska Education Association endorses the principle of fiscal independence as advanced by the Superintendent's Advisory Commission and the Association of Alaska School Boards.

The association urges the legislature to appropriate sufficient funds for operation of schools and for the office of commissioner in order to give the best possible educational service to all areas in the territory.

Sound child welfare legislation for improvement of mental and physical health and control and rehabilitation of juvenile delinquents is urged.

The Alaska Education Association is an association of teachers and administrators throughout the territory. If the 1,202 professional personnel in the territory, nearly 1,000 are members this year and membership rolls are not yet completed.

Mrs. Pearl Shockley, Anchorage, is president of the association.

Whaling Fleet Leaves Peru After Paying Three Million Dollars In Fines

CALLAO, Peru, (AP)—The five ships of the Olympic Whaling Fleet which Peru seized last month departed for an unannounced destination, presumably the Antarctic.

Peru released the vessels — a factory ship and four catchers — after representatives of owner Aristotle S. Onassis paid the equivalent of three million dollars in fines Monday.

The ships were seized on a charge of operating within 200 miles of the Peruvian coast, an area over which Peru claims jurisdiction. They were assumed to be heading for a rendezvous with 12 catchers of the Onassis fleet which left Panama Monday.

One Lone Wild Coyote Stands Off All Dogs Of Corpus Christi, Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., (AP)—The bravest dogs in all of South Corpus Christi licked their wounds today, their neighborhood rid of a wild coyote with no thanks to them, but to a policeman's bullet.

The dogs ganged up on a coyote that came into the densely populated part of town Sunday morning. They cornered him finally in a neighborhood business district.

The gray, wild animal from the brushland whipped all the city dogs, individually and collectively.

When police arrived to kill it, the coyote stood there defiantly, while the large band of dogs barked their challenges from a safe distance.
